Emyr Evans studied music in Manchester UK where he graduated with GNSM and was awarded ARCM and LRAM diplomas in Voice Culture, Aural Training and Schools Music.

After Army Service and school teaching Emyr moved into Music Education Advisory work in Norfolk, UK where he was involved with promoting curriculum development and directing various music performances including major oratorios and operas.

He was latterly involved with many UK Music organizations, some of which he was Chairman but he is now resident in Sydney, Australia. His work as a Trinity Music Examiner has given him the opportunity to travel to many parts of the world including such locations as The Arab Emirates, Canada, Hong Kong, India, Ireland, South Korea, Malaysia, Maldives, New Zealand, Singapore, South Africa, Sri Lanka, Taiwan, Thailand, USA and West Indies, in addition to locations in the UK.

Arriving in Sydney, Emyr was invited to join the staff of the Classical Music Radio Station Fine Music 102.5 and in addition to regularly broadcasting, has been involved with presenter training and a deviser of programmes on a regular basis.

Emyr currently works as an adjudicator and teacher, is a member of Rotary and when not involved with music enjoys playing golf, cycling and watching football. His daughter, a viola player and Music Examiner herself with Trinity, performs and teaches in the UK and is a member of the acclaimed Highly Strung Quartet. His son works in the publishing business in Berlin.
