FIIG SECURITIES TO SPONSOR CYCLE CLASSIC

The Bobbin Head Cycle Classic Committee announced on Friday that FIIG Securities has agreed to become the leading and "name" sponsor for the 2013 event. They have also taken up an option over the event for the next three years.

FIIG Securities is Australia's largest specialist fixed income broker with over $9 billion dollars under management. FIIG was established in 1998 but until 2010 dealt almost exclusively with very high net worth individuals. In 2010 FIIG introduced "DirectBonds," a facility that provided many more people with the opportunity to participate in the wholesale fixed interest market by breaking parcels of wholesale bonds down to a minimum of $50,000.

Since that time FIIG has been gradually increasing its public profile and sees the Bobbin Head Cycle Classic as an ideal way of promoting its services.

The amount of the sponsorship is confidential at this stage but according to Graham Timms, the Chair of the Sponsorship Committee, "entirely appropriate for a prestige event such as ours." Emma Bagley of Lifeline, one of the Cycle Classic's beneficiaries described the sponsorship by FIIG as "wonderful news. I really look forward to working with them," she said.

The Sponsorship Committee is now completing the final Gold Level Sponsorship appointments. With only ten Gold Sponsorships available of which four have already been tentatively taken up, the Committee expects demand to be very strong and to have all sponsorships in place by the end of October.

Bill Devitt

Sadly I advise the recent death of Bill Devitt.

Bill was President in 1981—1982.

Bill resigned several years later when he moved to the Central Coast.

Youth Insearch

Youth Insearch really appreciated our help last Sunday at their garage sale and working bee at Kurrajong.

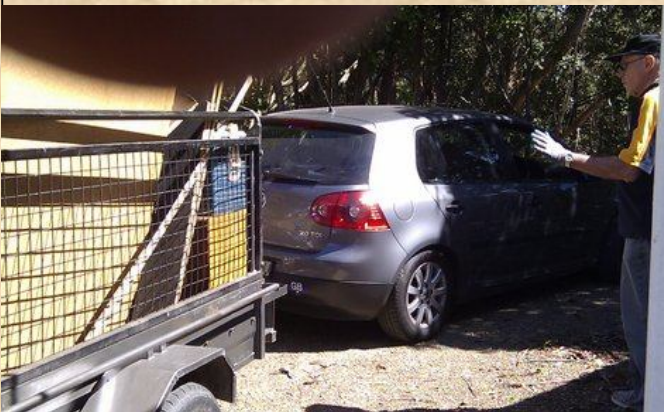

We worked hard but enjoyed the sunny and warm day in lovely bush surroundings. My thanks go to Judy, Linda, Emyr, John, and Greg for making the effort to get there and help out.

Photos show:

- Linda, Joy and Bec (another volunteer).

- John assisting Emyr on his first time towing a trailer!

- Judy and Youth Insearch CEO, Heath Ducker.

Caroline Jones Shelterbox

Caroline used her influence as a PLC Old Gild to gain admission to their Library for their Open Day. Caroline displayed a ShelterBox. Under Caroline's guidance the PLC Interact students raised $1,000.00 for a ShelterBox.

The Interact Students designed a sign. In the summer terms, Interact sold ice blocks for $1 to purchase a Shelter Box. These provide relief aid to people of unexpected natural disasters. We are able to track our box's progress around the world!

ShelterBox is an international disaster relief charity that delivers emergency shelter, warmth and dignity to people affected by disaster worldwide.

Emyr Evans 10 on me

I spoke briefly about my voluntary work in Norwich before I came to live in Sydney. I'd been a prison visitor which meant I had been allocated a prisoner for one hour each week. Rules were that all conversation between the prisoner and me remained confidential unless there was a threat to the welfare of the prisoner and if there was an escape risk. Norwich Prison is a remand prison where prisoners awaited sentencing – porridge in Norwich! The most harrowing situation was where inmates strongly disapproved of the crime committed by one of the prisoners and as a result they pushed burning newspapers under his cell door which led to the inmate suiciding.

I'd also been a Samaritan (Lifeline here in Australia) which again periodically involved dealing with potential suicide cases. Some telephone callers of course just needed to speak with someone.

When I came to Sydney and tracked down the NSW Volunteer organisation I discovered the huge breadth of volunteering, for example, from parents who helped with sports on Saturday mornings to organizations that helped to raise money for heart foundation and all the support that Rotary provided for Cancer Council and similar organisations. I've been a Rotarian since 1985 so I'm aware what the Rotary organisation is capable of high achieving and wanted to maintain my involvement.

But I felt that I should busy myself in my early 60's where I could use my experience as a musician so when I heard that a classical music radio station (then 2MBSFM and now Fine Music 102.5) was looking for volunteers I thought that this was for me.

'What would you like to be involved with' asked the interviewing volunteer co-ordinator 'Well I remember when I was about 7 and sitting in the bath at home and my mother had asked me what I'd like to be when I grew up I said I'd like to be a radio announcer. Don't ask me why'?

Emyr Evans 10 on me

'So here am I having spent over ten years one way and another preparing programmes, broadcasting those programmes, been on the Board, and trained people to be presenters'.

I then went on to speak about the new premises, the expansion in the work force, the generous bequests which have led to all kinds of initiatives and particularly to the continuation of the fine work that Fine Music 102.5 fulfils.

It's very exciting rewarding work, meeting lots of like minded people and what can I tell you about the work there – all voluntary of course.

It's an organisation which has some 5/6 salaried people. Lots of volunteers who do anything from distributing the Guide to preparing programmes, broadcasting, making sure the Radio Station is put out to air.

Emyr then distributed programme guides and subscriber forms.

Linda Lam Rolfs 10 on me

- I was Born in Hong Kong
- In 1981, I joined Bank of New South Wales Hong Kong Branch as the Head of EDP.
- 6 months later, it became Westpac.
- Westpac expanded the offshore network in the 80's, I was transferred to Sydney in 1983 to head the offshore system team.
- I often worked in overseas branches, from 3 weeks and up to 10 months for large projects.
- In 2001, I left Westpac and joined a Dutch Bank for putting in a new Internet Banking system. • I took up a position of Information Security Manager in 2008.

Linda Lam Rolfs 10 on me

Linda went on to talk about Computer security and Identity theft.

The most common type of Cyber crime is Identity theft.

- Take great care of your driver licence
- With your name, address & DOB, the bad guys may use your identity for a loan or credit card

- oYour Driver Licence
- o Bank Statement
- o Your Passport / Tax File No.
- Your mailbox outside the house

Spear Phishing – targeted tricks to get your password, or plant the spying software in your PC.
Whaling – targeted senior executives for stealing information from the PC.

Attempting to acquire information such as User Name, Password and Credit Card details by masquerading as a trustworthy entity through a personalised email or Skype or Web page.

- o Take control of your Internet footprint.
Just don't click it
- You can be infected through Phishing, Web page or email message
- Free downloads can be deadly.....
- When you take your USB to the photo shop for printing the photos, do not use it onto your PC without scanning for virus.
- Do not share your USB with someone you don't know.
- Do not pick up the USB from public places.

Password protection

- O Do not store your password in Outlook (the M/S Email system)
- o Do not write it down on a piece of paper and stick it up next to your PC.
- o Do not use short password (i.e. 1234)
- o Avoid using the words that you can find in Dictionary.
- o Change it regularly.

Is Smart Phone Safe?

Mobile Commerce
Killer Apps
Geo Tagging

- Is safer with Android Operation system (encrypted).
- Pay more attention when you synchronise your iphone with your PC. It can be accidentally synchronised with someone near you.
- Is Apps safe? Certainly not!
- Beware of the QR code! The destination can not be sure.
- Geo Tagging – should turn it off! Else the bad guy would know your where about instantly.

Linda Lam Rolfs 10 on me

Facebook

- Your data can be used for profiling!
- You will then be targeted for specific attack (i.e. phishing & etc.)
